See How They Prep

By Jeremy Plonk Horseplayernow.com Analyst

Since 1986, every Kentucky Derby champion except Charismatic exited a 9-furlong final tune-up. How strongly horses finish in these preps often is a key indicator as to how they might handle the extra furlong at Churchill Downs.

Louisiana Derby (March 26): GUN RUNNER drew away by 4-1/2 lengths in 1:51.06, with the final three furlongs in :38.12 and the final furlong in :12.94. This was about a length or two slower on both counts than the last Louisiana Derby runner to hit the board at Churchill Downs, Revolutionary's, effort here in 2013. Runner-up TOM'S READY actually lost ground to the winner over the last three furlongs and clocked in the mid to upper :38s. Troubled MO TOM only made up a half-length on GUN RUNNER over the final three-eighths.

Xpressbet.com Florida Derby (April 2): Kentucky Derby favorite NYQUIST scored a 3 1/4-length victory in 1:49.11. Florida Derby times have fluctuated in recent years due to track conditions, but his :37.82 final three furlongs and :12.73 final eighth look eerily similar to Orb's numbers in 2013.

Spiral Stakes (April 2): Upsetter OSCAR NOMINATED stalked midpack and pounced over Polytrack to score in a blanket finish. All quickened with solid :37.50 and :12.38 splits over the final three furlongs and one furlong, respectively. The final time of 1:51.12 rates well and the come-home splits are among the best in recent Spiral editions.

Santa Anita Derby (April 9): It's clear DANZING CANDY went too fast early with a :45.24 opening half-mile. That was about 10 lengths faster to the half than champion 2YO filly Songbird managed in the same-day Santa Anita Oaks.

EXAGGERATOR rallied 9-1/2 lengths over the final three furlongs to win going away by 6-1/4 lengths in 1:49.66 over a sloppy track. His final three furlongs were covered in :38.09 and :13.36. MOR SPIRIT was an even 40 seconds for the final three-eighths.

Blue Grass (April 9): Horses 11th, 12th and 14th after the opening quarter wound up running 1st, 2nd and 3rd as BRODY'S CAUSE got the distance in 1:50.20. His final three furlongs went in :37.94 and the final furlong in :12.98. All times were slower than front-runner Carpe Diem posted in last year's Blue Grass.

Wood Memorial (April 9): A quagmire sloppy track led to the slowest Wood in history at 1:52.92. There's nothing to take away from these splits due to the conditions, but, for the record, OUTWORK came home in :40.61 and :14.02 to hold on from TROJAN NATION, who closed nine lengths over the last three furlongs in :39.10.

Arkansas Derby (April 16): The top three finishers all rallied 9-plus lengths over the final three furlongs as CREATOR scored in 1:50.14. So, while the race splits were :39.53 and :12.66 during the late stages, the come-home times for CREATOR, SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS and WHITMORE were within a few ticks of each other around :37.70-:38.10. They appear to be genuine closers.

Derby Extras

Derby Extras by Jeremy Plonk NBC Sports Triple Crown Researcher

Know This:

Pitch 'Til You Win

Trainer Steve Asmussen has started the most runners in the Kentucky Derby (13) without winning the race. CREATOR and GUN RUNNER are Asmussen's probable representatives this year. Trainer Todd Pletcher is tied with his mentor D. Wayne Lukas and Nick Zito for most starters in a single Derby with 5. Pletcher did it twice, in 2013 and 2007.

April Vacay

Since 1920, 86 starters have competed in the Kentucky Derby without a prep race in April. They are: 86: 5-6-4.

In seven of the last eight editions (2012 is only exception) at least one horse without an April prep race has finished in the Derby top three. Four out of five 'no April prep' Derby winners have come since 2008—Orb, 2013; Animal Kingdom, 2011; Mine That Bird, 2009 and Big Brown, 2008. Needles, 1956, rounds out the list of winners. Potential 'no April prep' Derby starters this year are GUN RUNNER, LANI, DESTIN, TOM'S READY and MO TOM.

Outside Looking 'Win'

Following the filly Genuine Risk's 1980 Derby victory, the massive Derby field era began in earnest. The 1981 Derby gate ballooned to 21 starters and has been filled to near-capacity almost every season since. In that time, posts 5-16 have won 28 of 35 editions. Also, 25 horses have finished in the Louisville top three in the past 35 years from the auxiliary gate.

Struggles with 17

Post 17 remains the only post position to never produce a Kentucky Derby winner.

21 Pays

Not only does 21 pay off in blackjack, but also in the Kentucky Derby. Horses with 21 days between their final prep and the big race have won roses 15 times--most of any prep path since record keeping began in 1929.

Meet The 2016 Derby Contenders

by Johnny D Xpressbet.com

Nyquist

Unbeaten in seven lifetime starts, reigning 2-year-old champion and winner of the 2015 Breeders' Cup Juvenile at Keeneland, Nyquist has earned Kentucky Derby favoritism. He's whipped several of today's contenders on the square and even when he's had the worst of it—like in the BC Juvenile when he began from the 12 post in a 14-horse field, was fanned wide on the first turn and still won. This year in two starts he's won at seven furlongs in rapid time in Santa Anita's San Vicente Stakes and at a mile and one-eighth in Gulfstream's Florida Derby. He's got speed and can rate, so tactically he fits well in the Derby lineup. For some reason, though, he's never garnered the mutual support his record demands. He's been favored four out of seven times and was second choice to MOHAYMEN in his most recent start in the Florida Derby.

Mohaymen

He's pretty much the forgotten horse in this year's Kentucky Derby. He's won five-of-six lifetime starts and was favored over NYQUIST in the Florida Derby where he finished a disappointing fourth. Before that he won a pair of Grade 2 stakes at age 2 (Nashua and Remsen) and at age 3 (Holy Bull and Fountain of Youth). One poor outing at Gulfstream Park on a humid afternoon over a soggy track is all it took for legions to evacuate his bandwagon. Can he rebound with a strong effort in Louisville? Inquiring minds will be watching Derby week workouts over the Churchill strip hoping to find that answer.

Mor Spirit

Trainer Bob Baffert and jockey Gary Stevens, winners of seven total Kentucky Derbies, combined forces in 1997 to help Silver Charm earn roses. Prior to that victory, Silver Charm had finished second behind Free House in the Santa Anita Derby. Baffert and Stevens hope lightning strikes again this season as they champion Mor Spirit, runner-up to EXAGGERATOR in the Santa Anita Derby last out. Mor Spirit now has finished second (4 times) more often than he's won (3 times), but that won't matter if he puts it all together in the Kentucky Derby. He won the Robert B. Lewis at Santa Anita and then didn't threaten runaway winners DANZING CANDY in the San Felipe or EXAGGERATOR in the Anita Derby over a wet surface he presumably didn't appreciate. Mor Spirit has a grinding style that ought to work well over a mile and one-quarter, but he'll need to do much better than his recent stuff to win.

Gun Runner

This colt was last seen March 26 running away from nine Louisiana Derby foes, four and one-half lengths clear of his nearest threat. That victory completed a Pelican State parlay, as he had taken the Risen Star, also at Fair Grounds, in his previous start. As a 2-year-old, he won the first two starts of his career—a mile maiden race at Churchill Downs (Derby site) and an allowance route test at Keeneland. The only blemish on his record is a fourth-place finish in the Kentucky Jockey Club at Churchill over a sloppy track. He's not the prettiest of movers and ducks and dives and changes leads through the stretch, but, so far, he's gotten the job done. The Louisiana Derby has not been fertile ground for Kentucky Derby winners—the last hero of that race to take the Louisville version was Grindstone in 1996!

Danzing Candy

Until his last outing Danzing Candy had shown promise as a force to be reckoned with in the Kentucky Derby. He blitzed through December maidens and January first-level allowance foes with ease and then dominated highly regarded MOR SPIRIT in the San Felipe Stakes. In the Santa Anita Derby, Danzing Candy took jockey Mike Smith's cue to 'go,' but ignored his instructions to 'whoa' and set a ridiculously hot pace over an 'off' track. When it came time for the real running to start, Danzing Candy was finished—he wound up fourth, 13 lengths behind EXAGGERATOR. Like with MOHAYMEN, horseplayers will wonder if Danzing Candy can rebound from a disappointing last race.

Destin

It's been a while since we've seen Destin perform. Actually, it's been since March 12, when he won the Tampa Bay Derby from stablemate and subsequent Wood Memorial winner OUTWORK. Trainer Todd Pletcher, one of the nation's best for more than a decade, and conditioner of Kentucky Derby winner Super Saver, will bring Destin into the main event off an eight-week layoff. That's an unconventional path to the Kentucky Derby—both for the trainer and in the overall history of the race—but Pletcher wants to keep Destin fresh and feels the colt can train up to the mile and one-quarter test. Destin's versatile running style should fit well into what appears to be a Kentucky Derby lacking much early pace.

Compared to Whom? Slew?

by Bob Neumeier NBC Sports Reporter

Analysis: Seattle Slew is to racing what Frank Sinatra was to singing; what Thomas Wolfe is to writing; and what Tom Hanks is to acting. That NYQUIST can be compared to Slew is the ultimate compliment. If this son of Uncle Mo wins the Kentucky Derby, NYQUIST will become the first undefeated Champion Two-Year-Old to do so since Seattle Slew in 1977. That's 39 years – or half the life of a conventional human being!

Main Contenders: NYQUIST is 7-for-7 lifetime with wins at five different distances over four different tracks. He has four wins in Grade 1 stakes events and his pace-pressing style seems suited to the race. The favorite has his detractors: the 1 ¼-mile distance; the abnormally high white blood cell count incident; and the unpredictability of the Kentucky Derby. Three-year-olds can blossom overnight, which makes handicapping against the favorite a mysterious task. EXAGGERATOR has his own questions to answer, but he has lost three times to NYQUIST. DESTIN owns a flashy speed figure in the Tampa Bay Derby, but his eight-week layoff would be the longest to win the Kentucky Derby in the modern era. The balance of the 20-horse field? Spin the wheel.

Value Plays: By my math, there are six runners who should fall between the 15 and 20-to-1 threshold. They are SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS, BRODY'S CAUSE, WHITMORE, MO TOM, CREATOR and MY MAN SAM. I had MOHAYMEN pegged at 12-1, given his setback in the Florida Derby. He does have stout breeding, a popular trainer and a fast workout at Churchill Downs. GUN RUNNER is hopelessly slow but will be bet anyway.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $40 Exacta: NYQUIST over EXAGGERATOR ($40)
- $30 Exacta Part-Wheel: NYQUIST over MOHAYMEN and DESTIN ($60)

Cause for Pause and Celebration

by Jeremy Plonk Horseplayernow.com Analyst

Analysis: No horse ever has entered the Kentucky Derby starting gate with a resume as impressive as NYQUIST's. Consider the unbeaten Two-Year-Old Champ has record pre-Derby earnings of $3.3 million, more than $500k higher than any other horse ever, even if you ignore bonus money earned at Gulfstream. He's also won in California, Florida and Kentucky in graded stakes company. So the obvious conclusion must be that it's NYQUIST and then everyone else, right? Not so fast. Seriously, not so fast.

Main Contenders: NYQUIST has worked with lackluster results since the Xpressbet.com Florida Derby and detection of an elevated white blood cell count. It's fair to question if he's as good coming out of that race as he was going into it. At 100%, he's 100% the pick. And while trainerspeak says he's doing everything perfectly, coming home in :26 for the final quarter-mile of a drill is not maintenance to this handicapper, it's a blinking light. At 3-1 or so, should we concede 20-horse fields – or have horseplayers just turned impotent after watching three straight favorites wear roses? The west has been best in this prep season and in three of the last four Kentucky Derby renewals, so that's not a bad place to look with EXAGGERATOR, MOR SPIRIT and speedball DANZING CANDY representing the Golden State. But a sloppy Santa Anita Derby leaves me twisted and could make those horses undervalued on the tote.

Value Plays: The laundry list of Derby closers this year feels unprecedented. Every year has late-pluggers, but this year boasts high-quality finishers. BRODY'S CAUSE tops that list off his Blue Grass score, regained 2-year-old form and home-field edge at Churchill. Luis Saez has had a dream April, too, pushing all the right buttons. The Arkansas Derby trio of CREATOR, SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS and WHITMORE really appeal for the exotics. Respect that crew, who patently rejected Cupid from the west coast and earned high marks for it.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

The Trend Continues

by Jeff Siegel XBTV Analyst

Analysis: Beginning in 1980, the Kentucky Derby favorite failed to win for 20 straight years. That was then, yet many public handicappers, some wanting to be wise guys, have continued to make a conscious effort to steer clear of what on paper has been the most logical winner (see Pharoah, American, 2015). Here's a news flash: the favorite has captured six of the past 12 renewals, including the last three. It's perfectly okay to view the cold dope and conclude that the unbeaten Eclipse Award-winning Breeder's Cup Juvenile champion and slam dunk favorite, NYQUIST, will win this year's Run for the Roses.

Main Contenders: A legit case can be made for at least a half-dozen price chances, though each comes with a caveat. MOHAYMEN was favored over NYQUIST in the Xpressbet.com Florida Derby but wound up a well-beaten fourth. Can he bounce back? GUN RUNNER has been beaten just once in five starts and has done everything right this year, except (according to the speed figure experts) run fast. EXAGGERATOR's Santa Anita Derby win was visually impressive but was accomplished on an off track and with the benefit of an extreme race-shape. CREATOR will love the 10-furlong distance but in a 20-runner field can he avoid severe traffic? DESTIN is fast enough on numbers, but where has he been in the last two months? MOR SPIRIT has been a beaten favorite in three out of his last five starts. Trust him?

Value Plays: Trouble-prone (or simply unlucky) MO TOM employs a Silky Sullivan-type style that invites traffic problems, but if there's a pace meltdown and the Red Sea parts, he may be the most dangerous deep closer in the field. Conversely, if everybody takes back and allows DANZING CANDY to stroll on the front end, the California invader could get brave and take the field a very long way.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $5 Exacta Box: NYQUIST and MO TOM ($10)
- $5 Exacta: NYQUIST over MOHAYMEN, MO TOM, GUN RUNNER, CREATOR, EXAGGERATOR and DANZING CANDY ($30)

California Clout

by Jon White Santa Anita Morning Line Oddsmaker

Analysis: The group in California appears to be the strongest this year, an impression seemingly affirmed by what happened in the Xpressbet.com Florida Derby. California-based NYQUIST won the Florida Derby by 3 ¼ emphatic lengths to remain undefeated in seven career starts while beating fourth-place finisher, MOHAYMEN, by 8 ¼ lengths. Even the performances by a couple of maidens in graded stakes races nationwide would seem to be an indication of California's strength this year: TROJAN NATION very nearly won the Wood, while another California-based maiden, LAOBAN, ran second in the Gotham Stakes and fourth in the Blue Grass Stakes. Meanwhile, it appears the pace in the Kentucky Derby this year might not be all that fast, and if that turns out to be the case, DANZING CANDY becomes a threat to lead past every pole.

Main Contenders: California-based NYQUIST, EXAGGERATOR and MOR SPIRIT are the main contenders. NYQUIST has defeated EXAGGERATOR all three times they have met. So it certainly made the Two-Year-Old Champion NYQUIST look even better when EXAGGERATOR won the Santa Anita Derby by 6 ¼ lengths, with MOR SPIRIT finishing second. When MOHAYMEN lost the Florida Derby, the track was wet and he traveled much farther than NYQUIST. Can MOHAYMEN rebound and win roses? I would not rule it out. And even though BRODY'S CAUSE (Blue Grass winner), CREATOR (Arkansas Derby winner), GUN RUNNER (Louisiana Derby winner) and OUTWORK (Wood Memorial winner) do not make my list of "main contenders," I view them as bona fide candidates to win.

Value Plays: LANI, who has been sent to the U.S. from Japan via a victory in Dubai's UAE Derby, is an intriguing sleeper. LANI is a son of premier U.S. sire, Tapit, and Heavenly Romance. Heavenly Romance, an earner of $3,527,120 in Japan, is a daughter of 1989 Kentucky Derby winner Sunday Silence. LANI won the UAE Derby despite stumbling badly at the start and racing wide.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $2 Exacta Wheel: NYQUIST with ALL ($38)
- $2 Exacta Box: NYQUIST, LANI, EXAGGERATOR, MOR SPIRIT and SHAGAF ($40)
- $2 Exacta Box: MOR SPIRIT and MOHAYMEN ($4)
- $10 Win: LANI ($10)
- $8 Win: DANZING CANDY ($8)

Nyquist Fast Enough For These

by Dick Jerardi Daily Racing Form Columnist

Analysis: We could make this simple like the last three years, focus on the solid favorite and try to construct bets around that notion or try to make sense of several contenders that look very similar. Many of the final preps were won by deep closers after pace meltdowns. The Kentucky Derby race shape looks very different, however, as most of those speed horses have dropped off the Derby Trail and the actual race is left with very little obvious pace. The winner could get similar stalking trips to California Chrome and American Pharoah as the top flight really looks like the most advantageous spot.

Main Contenders: NYQUIST has a single wonderful trait – he wins every time he runs, 7-for-7. With more than $3.3 million in earnings already banked, the Two-Year-Old Champ has four Grade 1 wins. It is a powerful resume with just one missing ingredient. The colt just is not very fast, but the good news is that neither are the vast majority of horses he is running against. The Champ is just one of four horses with a triple-digit Beyer, very unusual for the Derby. EXAGGERATOR won the prep of the year when he crushed the field in the Santa Anita Derby, but the setup was perfect and he could not catch NYQUIST the three times he tried him. DESTIN won a key prep race in the Tampa Bay Derby. The eight-week layoff is typical for Todd Pletcher, but atypical for Derby winners. MOHAYMEN is certainly better than his fourth in the Florida Derby.

Value Plays: MOR SPIRIT is NYQUIST without all the wins. The colt is super consistent, with three wins and four seconds in seven starts, the last five in graded stakes. And MOR SPIRIT's trainer, Bob Baffert, knows how to get a horse ready to win the Derby.

Reach for Prices in Derby Chaos

by Steve Byk At the Races with Steve Byk (SiriusXM) Host

Analysis: After American Pharoah's Triple Crown sweep, an underwhelming prep season brings us to Derby 142 with a cloud of uncertainty. The classic candidates consistently earned speed figures well below historical pars for the traditional lead up stakes while coming home modestly. Several preps run over wet surfaces further complicate assessments of talent and projections for improvement, while a murky group of pacesetters makes conclusions on a big group of late runners more difficult. Planning your attack requires deciding and living with the pace scenario you expect. If the opening three quarters go in 1:10 or less, the big closers (CREATOR, SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS, MO TOM, BRODY'S CAUSE) will succeed. Six furlongs in 1:11 or more means quality near-the-lead types (NYQUIST, OUTWORK, GUN RUNNER, MOHAYMEN) get their opportunity to win and impact the pay slots. A fair for all pace between 1:10-1:11 gives stalkers and just-off-the-pace players (EXAGGERATOR, MAJESTO, MY MAN SAM, MOR SPIRIT) their best chance.

Main Contenders: Undefeated Juvenile Champion NYQUIST carries the burden of favoritism answering every question posed to him, but remains uninspiring. EXAGGERATOR will be second choice and needs to find a way to topple the favorite, who has bested him three times already. BRODY'S CAUSE justified Dale Romans' confidence with a big Blue Grass run. GUN RUNNER aced the Fair Grounds sophomore exams, but needs to step forward yet.

Value Plays: MY MAN SAM and MAJESTO are price keys in a race hinting at a chaotic result. MY MAN SAM is an emerging runner who has harnessed behavior issues and won't have to be as far back early as he was in the Blue Grass. Mid-pack stalker MAJESTO, the field's best looker, tangled with tigers en route to Louisville and is the lone entrant that negotiated 9f three times this year. SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS keeps improving for Von Hemel, but like CREATOR, will need to pass most or all of his rivals for laurels. OUTWORK, one of the Derby's trio of Uncle Mo sons with NYQUIST and MO TOM, is being dismissed after an eyesore Wood win, but is dangerous at what will be big odds for a Pletcher-Velazquez player.

Wagering Strategies ($100):

- $0.50 Trifecta Box: MY MAN SAM, MAJESTO, CREATOR, SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS, NYQUIST and EXAGGERATOR ($60)
- $1 Exacta Box: MY MAN SAM, MAJESTO, CREATOR, SUDDENBREAKINGNEWS, NYQUIST and EXAGGERATOR ($30)
- $5 Win: MY MAN SAM and MAJESTO ($10)
